CyberAngels Launches Online Global Community

Katya Gifford, Program Manager of CyberAngels, a provider of Internet safety information and assistance, today announced the opening of CyberAngels Global Community (CAGC). CAGC is a FREE social networking site offering blogs, forums, downloadable resources, and community events all geared towards keeping members of the online community safe. Individuals can enroll by visiting www.cyberangels.org/community.

"The CyberAngels Global Community (CAGC) is all about helping people protect their families, businesses and communities while creating a social network of community online," commented Program Manager, Katya Gifford. The Community provides members with the tools and support needed to effectively secure their home computers, set privacy controls and respond to CyberCrime. CAGC is designed to provide the support and knowledge that is so critical to securing the infrastructure of this vital network.

In addition to provide resources for new Internet users, the Community offers seasoned Internet veterans a place to share ideas, tips and suggestions for optimizing the Internet experience. The Community includes several ways to interact with each other including discussion boards and live chats. Gifford says that the process of sharing and learning is one of the most exciting benefits of membership. "It gives people a voice - a place to share their wisdom and experience and make a difference in the lives of others."

About Guardian Angels: The red beret of The Guardian Angels has become an icon for safety around the world. Founded in 1979 by Curtis Sliwa, The Guardian Angels began as a group of 13 dedicated volunteers who patrolled the subways, streets and neighborhoods of New York City to combat and deter crime. The organization has evolved into today's global network of Angels - volunteers from all walks of life, respected by law enforcement, welcomed by citizens and applauded by governments.
