

The Sacramento Bee's Crime blog is a comprehensive report of crime news, trends and information for your community and beyond.

October 3, 2009

Guardian Angels say to patrol part of Watt Avenue to combat hookers

From Cathy Locke

The Guardian Angels have announced that they will patrol a section of Watt Avenue near Interstate 80 tonight in an effort to combat prostitution in the area.

The Watt Avenue area has seen an increase in prostitution and drug paraphernalia in front of motels and along streets in the neighborhood, according to a news release from the Guardian Angels' Sacramento chapter. With cuts in Sacramento Sheriff's Department staffing, organization leaders said they want to provide "eyes and ears" to help deter such behavior.

The group will patrol the area from 5 to 9 p.m.